

Host's reply message to the visitor

Automatic notifications about a visitor's arrival contains an option for the host to send a notification message, that they have noticed the guest's arrival and when the guest will be picked up.

Sending a message is voluntary, but we warmly recommend it to enhance your visiting experience. After all, no one likes uncertain waiting.

How it works:

- 1. The host will receive a notification message of an incoming visitor, with a link to reply.
- 2. The link will take you to a page with ready options for replying or the opportunity to write your own message.
- 3. The message will be sent to the visitor via email and / or SMS depending on the service settings and the visitor's details.

On the next page, you will find the default contents of the ready-made answer options. It is possible to customize the answer options according to your wishes.
